Mrs. Kate Trimble Woolsey, of New York, renounces allegiance to the United States and becomes a subject of the king of England because, as she alleges, "a place of honor for women is not anywhere in the fabric of the American nation." The United States has lost nothing because Mrs.
Woolsey has taken her doll rags and crossed the pond to play in the back yard of royalty.

Ex Senator J. F. McNemer, of Little Rock, is now a full-fledged sky pilot. He ought to be able to make the Little Rockians think Sam Jones had hit the town by simply telling all he knows about the nineteen senators who were willing to do his bidding, interspersed with a few word pictures of the pool rooms, saloons and other places which recently knew Mc but will know him no more.

It was Thomas Jefferson's idea that the University of Virginia should be and remain forever a thoroughly democratic institution—the instructors equal, free and independent, the students under no rules except the universal ones regulating the behavior of men in civilized society. Up to now the university has had no president—only a chairman of the faculty.
Last winter the general assembly of Virginia overhauled the charter and the trustees are now at liberty to elect a president whenever they see fit. It is predicted that they will choose either Prof. John Bassett Moore, of Columbia university, or President Charles W. Dabney, of the University of Tennessee.

Herbert P. Bissell, a prominent lawyer of Buffalo and a brother of ex-President Cleveland's former law partner, declares that Mr. Cleveland has no intention of becoming a candidate for a third presidential term and that he could not be elected if nominated.
Mr. Bissell is somewhat blunt, but he gets right down to hard pan. The Graphic does not believe that Mr.
Cleveland desires the nomination, and it agrees with Mr. Bissell that he could not be elected. There is nothing to be gained for a united democracy by the friends of Cleveland and Bryan continuously boosting them for the nomination. The Graphic has implicit confidence in the ability and integrity of Mr. Cleveland, and it believes that the principles he advocates are the principles of safe and sound government, but he is objectionable to too many Democrats for him to be a safe nominee, if the element of success at the election is to be given consideration. The Graphic would support Mr. Cleveland cheerfully, but there are too many Democrats who would not support him at all for him to be considered in the list of eligibles. Mr. Bryan has received the nomination twice, and failed of election both times. If nominated the third time his defeat would be greater than the first or second, hence all talk of his nomination should cease. The party must nominate a candidate who has not been offensive to either element of the party.

BASEBALL NEWS.

Cotton States League.
Pine Bluff and Greenville played the second of a series of three games at Jones park on Tuesday afternoon.
The Pine Bluff team again winning, the score being 3 to 5. The game was discontinued after the second inning on account of rain, but after the rain ceased the teams returned to the grounds and finished the game.
The score stood 7 to 3 in favor of Pine Bluff when the rain came, and when the game was resumed Pine Bluff won 1 and Greenville 2, making the total of 3 to 5 in favor of Pine Bluff. The official score, as made and reported by G. W. Byington, official scorer, is as follows:

Will Be a Hot Game.

An interesting game of ball will take place next week between the "court house ring" and the bankers of Pine Bluff. The lineup of the "court house ring" is as follows: H. King White, catcher; W. F. Coleman, pitcher; W. T. Woodbridge, first base; A.
H. Powell, second base; M. L. Bell, short stop; I. Reinberger, third base; Ben J. Altheimer, left fielder; H. K.
Toney, center fielder; Jessie R. Core, right fielder. The substitutes are Jas.
Gould, Judge A. B. Grace, L. Sales, W. D. Jones, W. T. Young, M. A. Austin, W. L. Goodwin, Buck Bloom, Masson Philpot, Arthur Loving. W. D.
Hearne has charge of the bankers and the lineup of his team has not yet been completed.

Light on the Race Question.

Prof. Isaac Fisher, of Pine Bluff, Ark., is the principal of the colored Branch Normal college at that point.
A negro himself, a native of the south and a lifelong resident of that section, he is peculiarly qualified to speak of the conditions prevalent there, and to discuss with authority the relations between the races. In a communication to the New York Sun, which that paper published a few days ago, he makes certain statements of facts which northern agitators, both white and black, will do well to consider and digest. It seems that his college, which is maintained by the state of Arkansas out of the public funds, has not been able to indulge the luxury of regular lectures by competent specialists. Prof. Fisher, therefore, determined to appeal to a number of gentlemen eminent in their respective callings, explaining the great need of the college and its inability to pay its way in that respect.
This speaks for itself, and with an eloquence that needs no comment.
Contrasted with the incendiary utterances of President Roosevelt's negro commissioner, Fortune, and the rest of the northern malcontents of both races who are bent on making trouble at the south, it seems a message of purest philanthropy and light. It is a great pity that the country everywhere does not accept such men as Booker Washington and Prof.
Fisher as the true exponents of the race problem and turn a deaf ear to impudent and mischievous pretend-ers.—Washington Post.

Strength and vigor come of good food, duly digested. "Force," a ready-to-serve wheat and barley food, adds no burden, but sustains, nourishes, invigorates.
